Allied Troops, Pushing Ahead of Marshy Ground, Keep Up Smashing Attacks Against Fleeing Huns on Whole Line

Fleeing Huns on Whole Line

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Oct. 22. (By the Associated Press.)—The great battile in Flanders and Northern France passed into its second phase yesterday.
The frist phase was completed whun
the Lilie salient was eliminated and the Germans were driven out of Western Beigium so that the line all the way from the frontier of Holland to the Olse canal is virtually a straight one.
This having been accomplished, the Beigians, British and French in the north started a sweeping movement
Monday pivoting on a point about east of Courtral. The object of this appears to be the clearing of the enemy from his front in Northern Beigium and at the same time to threaten his extreme right flank.
The position at the south is in the region below Valenciennes. At both places the exhausted German divisions, whose ranks have had great holes chopped into them by terrific blows, are fighting with the greatest desperation. The German commanders are sacrificing many men in endeavors to hold their ground, but in both sections the allied troops have smashed into the enemy and made appreciable gains.

Scores of additional villages have
been reclaimed, and numerous prisoners
and large quantities of supplies have
been reclaimed, and numerous prisoners
and large quantities of supplies have
been reclaimed, and numerous prisoners
and large quantities of supplies have
been captured.

In the center of the battle area the British kept thrusting out overywhere and gradually during Monday moved forward toward the west bank of the Scheldt with increasing celerity. The Germans have taken advantages of the natural protection offered by the width of this stream and its canal and marshy borders. They are holling behind it in shallow trenches and are showing nervousness as the allies approach. Back of them their artillery, the strength of which has been greatly depleted, is giving some support.

Keep Cannon Close.

Keep Cannon Close.

Keep Cannon Close.

The Germans bave their cannon close to the roads and on them, so that when it becomes necessary to withdraw they can get them away in a hurry. In their retreat the Germans have recorted to every known means to delay the bringing up of artillery, but without effect.

At the present time, however, the ailes are not hampered in the least, for the Germans were put to such hurried flight that they had little time to take their artillery and vast stores of ammunition with them. These fell to the ailled troops and the guns were promptly turned around and shells made in Germany were sent eastward as fast as they could be fired.

In the porthern part of the battle area ailled cavalry is moving ahead of the infantry, clearing out the Germans. And all the while, the allies are getting nearer and nearer to Ghent.

Belgian artillery has been moved up rapidly behind the infantry and is prounding the enemy constantly. Shrapnel is breaking continuously on the German rear, and high explosives are reaching out for transport and men on the roads.

The flighting is going on in rain and hounces. The French reached the railway northeast of Assis-sur-Serre and also the St. Jacques farm, northwest of Chalandry. HAIG'S NIGHT STATEMENT

German rear, and night exposives reaching out for transport and men on the roads.

The fighting is going on in rain and mud. To some extent the allied troops have left behind the ground which turns into marsh, and have not been hampered greatly.

The river Selle has been crossed all along its course from a point north of Le Cateau to the Scheldt and is being rapidly left behind. In this region the river Ecaillion has been reached and probably crossed.

The Germans have delivered a number of counter-attacks, but in every case they have broken down under the hot fire of the allied troops. The German dead are on the battlefield in great numbers.

In scores of the towns which have been won from the enemy, Germans have been found hiding in cellars waiting to surrender. It is reported that not a few have taken advantage of the proximity of the Dutch frontier to cross to the other side, where they have been interned. TELLS OF TOWN'S CAPTURE LONDON, Oct. 22.—The British forces fighting north of Le Cateau have captured Ameryal, according to the official report from Field Marshal Haig's head-quarters in France last night. The British are now two miles from Valencienes.

REPORTED BY FRENCH

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The situation was without change on the Oise front, according to the war office announcement last night. Between the Oise and the Aisne the French have occupied Mestrecourt-Richecourt.

ON SCHELDT; NEAR CITY GEN. BULLARD, RAISED

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN NORTHERN FRANCE, Oct. 22. (By the Associated Press.) — Cyclists have reached Haulchin, on the Scheldt, less than three miles southwest of the important city of Valenciennes. The infantry is pouring on after them.

The Olse canal has been crossed on a wide front from Eireux southward against the heaviest resistance. Here, as elsewhere, all along this part of the hattle area, the Germans are fighting with the realization that every foot of ground tost increases the menace to their comrades for many miles to the north and south. MONTGOMERY, Ala., oct. 22.—Gen. Robert L. Bullard, named lieutenant-general and commander for the second American field army, is a native of Alab.ma, having been born at Youngsboro in 1861.

He is a graduate or Auburn Polytechnic institute and of West Point military academy of the class of 1885. As a colonel in the Spanish-American war he was twice commended for bravery. During reconstruction in the Philippines he was in charge of the road building forces. He was commissioned a major-general in January, 1917.

Recent press dispatches credit him.

Recont press dispatches credit him Recont press dispatches credit him with having been the American officer who refused to retire his troops under a German attack, stating that the American flag had been pushed back, which was an intolerable situation and one to be overcome by a counter-at-tack.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The allied armies now are two inlies from Tournal, where the Germans are resisting strenuously. Just to the east of the city lies high ground, which is giving the Germans the advantage in the present fighting. If the allies take the city much heavy and difficult fighting is expected in the event that a further eastward advance is attempted. BIG REDUCTION OF PILES OF OCEAN FREIGHT SHOWN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A reduction of 57 per cent in the accumulation of export freight at Atlantic ports between last December and Oct. 1 was reported by the railroad administration after a survey of operations at New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newport News and Norfolk Last December the export accumulation was 44,320 carloads—about 2,000,000 tons—with 12,532 loads standing in cars on congested sidings. On Oct. 1 this avoumulation had been reduced to 18,798 carloads, of which 5,388 were in cars, 5,064 were on piers and 8,349 were on the ground.

This accomplishment is regarded by officials as highly important in eliminating the clogged condition of the ports and doubling the ports capacity in the seven months period event that a further eastward advance is attempted.

The British are not having an easy time around Valenciennes. Here also the Germans have the advantage in Terrain. The Valenciennes-Hirson railway has been put out of action. This road, which formerly was one of the Germans' main lateral communication lines, lost much of its value to them when they evacuated Lille. STIFFENING EVERYWHERE

BRITISH HEADQUARTRS IN FRANCE, Oct. 22. Reuters.)—It is the general impression that the resistance of the enemy everywhere is stifcining. Apparently the rapidity of the British drive in Flanders and northern France has caused the enemy to realize that the silled forces have approaching the fatherland at a rate that, if not checked, might before long find their long-range guns pitching shells across the Rhine. Therefore the enemy is pulling himself together with a view to delaying to the utmost the allied advance. HOLD SERVICES FOR MRS. WEILL AT GRAVE

The retreat will shorten the line about 70 miles whether it be prolonged from the frontier of France to Antwerp by way of Brussels, or to the Holland front or along the line of the Meuse in Beigium.

FRENCH EXPERTS THINK REAL CRISIS IS SHOWN

PARIS. Oct 2I.—The German reply was received here too late for the afternoon papers, but was eagerly discussed in official circles and in parliament. Among deputies the impression was that the reply betrayed more than in previous communications, the depression and demoralization of the German people.

The note is found to be equivocal and platitudinously phrased as to leave the door open for all sorts of quibbling. Nowhere is there evidence of a genuine desire to accept the only way in which pears can be concluded, according to opinion here. On the contrary, all that is apparent is the irgent desire of the German general staff to get an armistic at any price in order to reorganize reserves. Therefore it is generally believed that the reply is not likely to be considered at Washington.

HERNE, Switz, Oct. 2º German military experts, especially Gen. Ludendorff and Admiral von Scheer, chief of the admiralty staff, took a large part in the deliberations on the reply to President Wilson's note, according to Berlin dispatches. They argued that the German military situation, in consequence of the withdrawal and shortening of the front, was considerably mellorated and added that the German army was not in the least demoralized.
